BOCK GRILLED IN REGARD TO MRS. WONG YU

Former Police Captain's Eyes
Snap Fire and His Sons
Clinch as Carey Shoots Some Questions in the Graft Trial

Mysterious Chinese Influences
Hinted at in Cross-Examination; Witness, in Spite of This, Keeps Fairly Cool

Tugged at constantly by an under-current of departmental politics
mysterious Chinese influences and suggested romance, the cross-examination of former Police Captain Charles H. Bock filled a good deal of the trial of David W. Clegg in Judge James C. Guinn's court this morning with dramatic intensity.
Throughout this trial and that of
former Chief John H. Nedderman
that preceded it, there were no
moments when the volcano that smoulders beneath all the graft
cases came so near an overwhelming eruption.

Forces retained an even greater degree of coolness under the fire of cross-examination than he did in the Nedderman trial. The sardonic
smile that overspread his features
while Thomas O'Connor was examining him yesterday was there to greet Phillip M. Carey as he came into the courtroom. Only once or twice did the warden dip into a line
of sarcasm as particularly searching questions came from the examiner.

Once more, as in the Nedderman
trial, it was an imputation with regard to his friendliness with Mrs.
Wong Yu, the wealthy Chinese wife
of the man he had constantly
denounced, that led him to one of those moments of soberness.

BOCK'S EYES SNAP FIRE

AS HIS FISTS CLOSE.

"Were you accustomed to visiting her at all hours?" asked Carey.

The question was overruled, but Bock slipped forward to the edge of his chair. His hands were clenched and his eyes snapping fire as he demanded, despite the objections of
counsel and the frown of the court:

"Do you mean that criminally?"

"Oh, no! Captain Bock," Carey
hurriedly replied.

"Because," said Bock, "he he settled back again in his chair but now without the smile, and the New England woman tried to show she was very affable."

BOCK BACKS UP HIS DIRECT TESTIMONY.

Most of the cross-examination was devoted to attempts by Carey to show discrepancies between Bock's
stories in the present trial and before the grand jury and the Ned-derman trial. One of the chief discrepancies Bock had an immediate explanation. Several he pointed out were not discrepancies.
In one instance Carey quoted his direct testimony yesterday in this regard:

"You said Nedderman told you that he might want more from the
lawyer, but he said he was financially embarrassed and might want to cut in. Show me where you
said to the grand jury."

He passed the transcript of the grand jury hearing to Bock who read
it closely for some minutes and finally announced:

"Here it is, right here."

He read from the transcript where he had said on that occasion, too, said
that Morse might want to cut in.

"But I said to show me where
you said Morse was financially embarrassed," said Carey.

ONCE MORE WITNESS
GAINS HIS POINT.

Once more Carey passed the transcript up to Bock, who, when he had read it, said, as he did on that occasion, that he told Nedderman he saw
no reason for letting Captain Thor-vald Brown "cut in," that the Chinese lotteries never had been known to give up before, Bock read to the jury the passage where he had made
a similar statement.

Bock explained at greater length
this time than before that statement
to Nedderman that there might be trouble in Chinatown if unequal amounts were charged to different houses. He said he told Nedderman
that if one tong had an interest in a certain house and other tongs in another, and they were charged a different amount, it might "start
something."

"By that you meant it might start
a tong war," said Carey.

"Yes," said Bock.

"And you gathered that from your
knowledge of Chinatown conditions?"

Bock replied affirmatively again.
Carey's effort to follow this up with further testimony regarding the
tongs and their membership therein
of Joe New, Gee Sook, and Ernest Lum, previous witness for the state, was blocked on an objection.

BOCK DECLARIES HE WONT PURGE HIMSELF.

A moment later Bock was after Bock again on another matter. Then,
for the second time in the fore-
noon, Bock's aspect grew serious.

He said that was the way it was,
that he "don't lie, and I am not
going to purify myself for any-
body."

The last quarter hour of the cross-
examination before the noon recess
lurched upon when Bock had reported to Commissioner F. F. Morse
or any other higher official than the chief of police the fact that illegal
gambling was going on in Chin-
town or that he knew Mrs. Wong Yu was interested therein. It was one

RIVAL FORCES MARCHING TO CAPITAL

(By the Associated Press).—Thirty thousand Rumanian troops, including
infantry, cavalry and artillery, entered the city today with a blaze of trumpets. The Rumanian forces,
led by General Marghescu, passed
through Andrássy and other streets.

One regiment of Rumanian cavalry
is quartered in Kelenyana, a suburb three miles from the center of the city and overlooking it. Other Rumanian officers are actually inside the city proper. General Burescu, the Rumanian commander and
staff, are guests of Lieutenant-Colonel Romanelli, chief of the Italian mission here. The latter has prevented the occupation of Budapest hitherto by representing to the Rumanians that such action would have a disastrous political effect for the new cabinet.

Some members of the new Hungarian ministry, the telegrams state,
have been arrested by the Rumanian
troops, who have mounted machine
guns in various parts of the city and demobilized the local police. The city is absolutely under military control.

(PEOPLES REPUBLIC)
OFFICIAL TITLE

(By the Associated Press).—The Hungarian People's Republic is the official name of the new government
of Budapest, it was announced at Vienna yesterday by members of the Hungarian government after a conference with allied representatives.

A program of policies agreed upon
at the conference was given to the correspondents by Dr. Peter Agoston,
the new Hungarian minister of foreign affairs. He announced the Budapest government would change
from the Soviet system to social democracy. The new government had guaranteed the alliance that a new constitution would be created
by a constitutional legislature elected
in public service until the legislature meets and laws and acts
of the soviet will be kept in force
unchanged by the new legislature.

Possible violent action, suggested by cabinet members and high government officials in closed circles,
with domestic affairs, were whipped
into shape for presentation to the President and his cabinet at a conference. This conference had before it the report of a sub-committee
composed of Federal Trade Commissioner Clegg, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Leffingwell and Rail Road Commissioner.

BUDEPEST, Aug. 4.—General Ny-
ratos, commander-in-chief of the Rumanian army, explained today
that he had ordered the occupation of Hungary only as far as the outskirts of Budapest. He does not intend to interfere with the internal affairs of Budapest, he said.

Despatches yesterday told of the Rumanians occupying Budapest despite instructions from the allies to cease their advance.

Complete amnesty for all political offenders punished under the war was granted, it was announced.

One of the first acts of the new government will be the degree
of Socialization to be adopted.

BRITAIN AND ARGENTINE RELATIONS STRAINED

BUENOS AIRES, Monday, Aug.
5.—Diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Argentina as a result of the purchase by Argentina of the German steamer Bahia Blanca
are delicate, according to La Nacion. Today's edition of the newspaper will say:

"Regarding rumors which from the beginning have been founded on

ceived versions, the gravity of which

Argentine and the departure of

it appears the retirement of both ministers is traceable to the

TWO HUNDRED BILLION DOLLARS COST OF WAR

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The war
cost all the nations engaged a staggering total of between $200,000, 000,000 and $250,000,000,000, Norman Davis, one of the American
economic experts at the peace conference, testified before the Senate
foreign relations committee today.

He said that was the way it was,
that he "don't lie, and I am not
going to purify myself for any-
body."

Opponents of the plan were insisting that it put into effect a policy of strict neutrality. They urged that President Wilson would refuse to permit any armament legislation to be enacted. That, however,
was a subject on which there
was absolutely no official word was obtained.

Advocates of the embargo pointed out that during June a 30-day
month—exports of breadstuffs, flour,
etc., totalled $118,320,211; meat and dairy products, $175,334,924; and cotton seed oil, alone, $6,357,219
worth. And this had kept in the United States, they insisted, existing stocks of food, alone, $1,200,000,000
worth. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

CHEMICALLY PURE S. F. TO GREET FLEET

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—Exit the shrimmie as the first step in making the city chemically pure before the arrival of the Pacific squadron. Under instructions of the board of police commissioners, Chief of Police W. H. White issued today issue orders forbidding the shrimmie in any dance hall in San Francisco. The orders will go into effect immediately.

Lieutenant Meyers, representing the moral department of the United States Army, called Chief White and President Roche into conference yesterday afternoon with regard to the shrimmie. He explained that this form of the dance was demoralizing and that the army authorities had decided that it had better be dispensed with. Moreover, he commented that San Francisco was among the last of the cities to frown upon the new dance. Commissioner Roche pledged the city's cooperation to the army and department of justice in cleaning up the town morally so that no complaint could be made when the soldiers were ashore. At a session of the police commissioners last night the resolution was adopted abolishing the shrimmie.

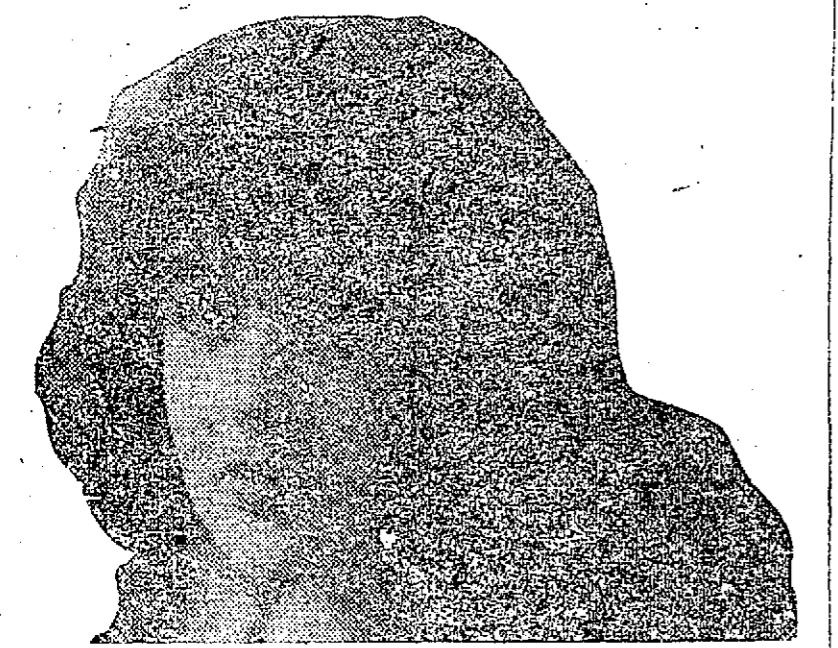

Chief White says that his department is already at work on plans for completely policing San Francisco during fleet week.

UNIQUE GIRLS' CLUB SWEARS TO DESPISE MEN ALWAYS

MARGUERITE CLARK claims to be a man-hater this week at the Kinema.

Swearing to have nothing to do with men, not to permit them to cross the threshold, not to notice the creatures even. Marguerite Clark forms a League of Man-Haters in Clyde Fitch's clever comedy, "Girls," all week at the Kinema.

By the sacred bat pins they took the oath to see no man. Listen to no man, and kiss no man. They were so independent and man-hating women get a job. What there was nothing to eat, in the house but cheese, a box of candy kisses came by mail. Well—what can you do if you're hungry? The League began to crumble right then.

On the same program is a Prizma Natural Color Film and a Paramount comedy, "An Amateur Lear."

Labor Outlines Railroad Demands

Appeal Is Made Direct to Public

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Organized labor has come out with the unequivocal, formal demand that private capital be retired from the railroads.

A tripartite control composed of the public, the operating management and the employee is demanded instead.

Addressed to the American public and signed by the engineers, the firemen, the conductors and the American Federation of Labor, a formal statement was issued yesterday announcing this proposal which will be carried before Congress tomorrow.

The trainmen are not represented in the statement because W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood, was absent from the city, but it was said that they join in it.

The statement follows:

The indubioes telegraphed from Washington that the railroad unions are holding up Congress and the Government may as well cease.

This is the only way in which we can exist under the present system is to demand further increases in wages. But we agree with Representative Blanton that this affords but temporary relief. It does not offer a remedy.

Labor's demands, on the other hand, provides a remedy and we ask only that its terms be scrutinized.

Our full argument in support of these terms will be presented to Congress before the House Committee on Interstate Commerce. In this statement we are sounding the note of our basic principle.

That this role originates with labor is merely true because labor happens to have firm organizations through which it may become articulate. It is not to benefit labor or labor alone; it is to benefit the consuming public, of which labor at present is the audible part. In labor's bill providing that the public take over the railroads and establish a tripartite control between the public, the railway operating management and the employees, the labor organizations of America have established this new policy which envisages their condition not only as producers, but also as consumers.

REAL COOPERATION.

It marks the step by which organized labor passes from demands that the system of profits in industry be overhauled.

During successive wage negotiations and arbitration awards, we have called for a proportional settling away of questions arising out of differences as to wages, hours and conditions of labor. That "principle of genuine co-operation and partnership" is based upon a real community of interest and participation in control," of which President Wilson has spoken to Congress but been ignored both by labor and by the private producers of the railroads.

What wage increases have been received during the past few years resulted only in immediately being followed by more than proportionate increases in the cost of living. Each rise in wages has turned out to mean that workers will require more to discharge every just obligation. We demand that the new wages through the additional cost it pays as consumer. Moreover, through compounded profits taken on these wages each cycle becomes an upward spiral of costs which the consumer public vainly reaches as producer loses the advantage of the new wages through the additional cost it pays as consumer.

As a major part of the consuming public, labor is entitled to representation on the directorate of the public railroads. As a producer of capital it is entitled to representation on the directorate of the railroads. To capital, labor is the fruit of yesterday's labor, the result of yesterday's labor to discharge every just obligation. We demand that the owners of capital, who represent only financial interest as distinguished from operating brains and energy, be retired from management, receiving Government bonds with a fixed interest return for very honest labor. The railroads controlling the sugar market had entered into a hoarding combine while he was investigating deals in army supplies.

Despite the fact that the government recently released 37,000,000 pounds of sugar for public purchase in an effort to relieve sugar shortage, it is now impossible to buy sugar in large quantities at almost any price, O'Malley declared.

It was intimated by the deputy commissioner that some of the government's 37,000,000 pounds of sugar had fallen into the hands of profiteers who planned to hold it until they could boost the price.

Under the resolution the Senate would inquire into comparative wages and why living costs have increased.

THOUSANDS OF MEN IN TWIN CITIES WALK OUT.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 5.—Between $900 and 10,000 shopmen in the Twin Cities and about 25,000 employed by railroads throughout the Midwest were to strike today, according to union officials. The thousand St. Paul shopmen voted almost unanimously last night to strike.

The action was taken despite efforts of union officials to get the men to wait for the nation-wide strike vote called for August 24. Failure of negotiations at Washington to bring immediate wage increases or immediate reduction of living costs is blamed for the strike call.

PETERSEN TO FACE LOTTERY CASE CHARGE

Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen announced today that unless called as a witness in the Cook-ell graft case this afternoon he will appear when the charges made against him by Phillip Reilly, newspaperman, come up before Commissioner Morse of the Department of Health and Safety.

Reilly filed allegations that Captain Petersen, then chief of police, on October 15, 1918, gave orders that no more than seventeen lotteries were to be permitted to run in the city of Oakland.

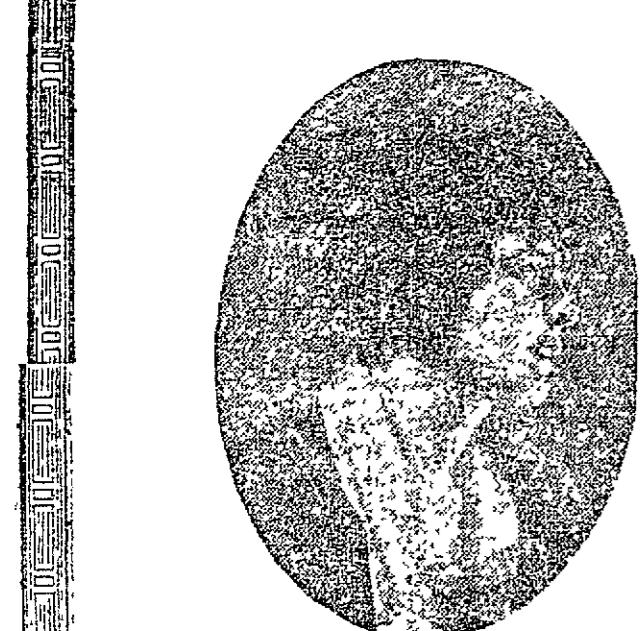

"Even if I had said what Reilly declares I said, which I did not, there would be nothing to the charges that he makes," said Captain Petersen. "It is ridiculous to suppose that I would have said seventeen lotteries without designating which ones."

The fact of the matter is that I told the officers that no more lotteries were to be permitted to open in the city of Oakland.

A peculiar situation existed. The country was preparing its budget in 1918, figures for the amount of $900,000 fine from gambling. The idea was to pull numerous raids and plaster on big fines. After three months, however, I balked at this and closed up all the lotteries and other gambling joints.

"I can produce plenty of witnesses to prove just what I did say about the lotteries, but I do not believe that this will be necessary, as Reilly probably will not be able to make enough of a case."

LAKE TAHOE PLAN TO BE DISCUSSED

EASTBAY SOCIETY NEWS

Miss Bray to Be Honored Guest at Tea

TAHOE CITY, CAL, Aug. 5.—Protective measures against the proposal of the United States Reclamation Service to lower the level of Lake Tahoe will be considered here next Saturday at a meeting of all the interests concerned, it was announced today.

A report will be submitted by a committee which attended a hearing in Washington, July 22, before Secretary Lane. This hearing, held at the instance of the reclamation service, was for the purpose of obtaining the endorsement of confirmation proceedings against property owners to permit cutting the timber and lowering the lake's level to obtain water for irrigation. Lane decided he would sanction no further action until the property owners had been determined legally.

HOW TO STOP
BEING NERVOUS

Nothing Like Phosphatine Phosphate to Strengthen Weak Nerves and Increase Strength and Vigor.

According to a noted French Scientist, the most effective remedy for nervousness, insomnia and ailments due to depleted nerve force, is a form of bone phosphate known among druggists in this country as Biro-Phosphate.

It is described as a substance which is similar to the phosphate of the phosphorus naturally found in brain and nerve cells and, being easily and quickly assimilated, the work of re-creating nerve force, strength and vigor is done before it is taken into the human system.

There are many reports of astonishing results from its use, some showing complete recovery even in stubborn cases of long standing nervous weakness. As there are many kinds of phosphates, care should be taken to use the Biro-Phosphate. Price, 50c a pound, sold by The Owl Drug Co. in Oakland and all good druggists. —Advertisement.

PERSHING MAY 'CHANGE' ARMY PLANS FOR US.

LUCILLE STARMER, Alameda girl, who was stabbed with a poison needle by mystery woman in Oakland.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Congress wants to hear from General Pershing before making up its mind about universal military training and the nation's peace army.

Indications today were that the War Department bill for an army of half a million and universal service will be bitterly contested in both houses of Congress.

Senator Wadsworth, chairman of the Senate military affairs committee, believes the general staff's proposal for a peace army is too large.

Senators Leinenweber, Wisconsin, Capper, Kansas, and others on the committee are opposed to the universal service feature.

Hearings will begin at once, but no action will be taken until General Pershing returns from abroad.

How I Nursed My Baby Longer

THE happiest days of my life were those while I nursed my baby and knew that I—alone—was making him grow strong and well.

Then came the days when he seemed hungry after his nursing, and my heart sank. But the doctor said "Don't worry. We'll just add a little more nourishment to his diet with one feeding a day of Nestle's Milk Food."

So after all I was able to nurse him the full nine months—and when we weaned him and changed entirely to Nestle's he didn't seem to notice the difference.

You see, Nestle's is really just pure, sweet milk—but changed into a powder so it is easier to digest, and with none of the germ dangers of raw milk. To that they add just the right amount Nestle's is pure milk in powder form, requiring the further addition of milk and free from the dangers of home medication. Nestle's has stood the test of three generations and has today the largest sale of any baby food in the world.

GIRL IS SAVED FROM POISON BY BRACELET

A mysterious woman, richly gowned and heavily veiled, pricked the wrist of Miss Lucille Stamer, 17-year-old Alameda girl, with a poisoned needle as she awaited a car at the corner of Washington and Twelfth streets last night, according to the story which Miss Stamer has told the Oakland police. A gold wrist watch was the talisman which saved the young girl and a strange fate. The hand of the end of the steel, turning the poison into a slanting scratch.

A strange woman approached the young girl and asked directions to a crockery store, as Miss Stamer relates her experience in the midst of the busy shopping district. As she turned to point the way, the hand of the watch held her fatal needle.

EVERYTHING FEELS.

"I was terrified," says Miss Stamer, "but by sheer will power I overcame a sudden feeling of dizziness and caused and succeeding in botching the car which had come along." The assailant did not attempt to follow the young girl to her home.

"I am sure the needle did not penetrate sufficiently deep to do my daughter any real harm," explains Mrs. Stamer, 1315 Santa Clara avenue. "We are sure it was the wrist watch which saved her from some terrible fate."

Examination after the arrival of the girl at her home at 1315 Santa Clara avenue, revealed a tiny needle mark in the wrist. This morning the mark had entirely disappeared. The young woman is seemingly none the worse for her startling adventure and will remain home for a day or two as her nervous system was shocked more or less by the unusual and disturbing happenings.

The girl says that she was temporarily terrified by the occurrence and in the momentary excitement and confusion the veiled woman escaped, evidently realizing that the girl was not sufficiently overcome to be helpless, or to accept "preferred assistance" from a stranger who might plan to take the helpless girl home.

The girl said that her chief concern was to retain control of her faculties, board the street car and reach home. She realized later that she might have given the alarm and asked men or women in the street car to watch the woman.

Japan's Good Faith Questioned

Reject Shantung Deal Is Plea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Declaring the history of German and Japanese acquisitions in Shantung had been a wrong headed upon another, Senator Watson, Republican of Indiana, asked the Senate today to accept his proposal that the Veterans' treaty which gives Japan control in Shantung be annulled.

The original Shantung rights, Senator Watson said, were taken from China by Germany in 1898 through a demand enforced by a fleet of battleships and had been expanded to include the entire economic possession of Shantung, through supplemental treaties in 1899, 1900 and 1903. These expanded rights, he said, had been taken from Germany in the present war by Japan, who has sought to reinforce her position with the allies in 1917.

"The President recently has stated," he continued, "that Japan intends to return Shantung to China. If that be true, why is it not so written in the contract?" Japan waged two wars with the announced purpose of ensuring that China behaved in the United States. We have been told by Korea, we are having war in both wars, the very speedily annexed Korea. One of Japan's alleged reasons for waging war with Russia was that she wanted to save Manchuria for China. Manchuria is to all intents and purposes a Japanese colony.

The history of the treatment of China by Japan furnishes ample illustration of the fact that Japan intends to cling to Shantung, and that her protestations of good faith are not to be believed. Why was so monstrous a wrong thus recognized? Simply because it had to be done to save the League.

Opposed to Watson's proposal the League was the sole object of his desire to go to France, and for it he was to be given a pension.

The League is willing to make great sac-ifices of either foreign rights or American independence. Japan, seeing his attitude, took him advantage of him and forced him to endorse this wrong to China by the threat that if he now did not she would withdraw from the League and would demand to ratify the League. He yielded, and is now endeavoring to have our nation ratify this treaty and condone this wrong.

Japan coerced him into that concession. That country sold her signature for the liberal sum of $6,000,000 of German and Japanese bonds.

George and Clemenceau approved the bargain and ratified the sale.

"The most remarkable, the most indefensible feature of this entire transaction is that as a result of a war said to have been waged to make the world safe for democracy we endorsed a proposal of the Japanese in the Orient, we ratified the Japanese robbery of a friendly people by the nation we went to war to overthrow for such acts, and we turn the result of the League over to the most autocratic government that now exists on earth, the counterpart of Germany in the east.

TRIES TO BOARD TRAIN; LOSES FOOT

BERKELEY, Aug. 5.—While running for a Key Route train, shortly before 8 o'clock this morning, at Alcatraz street and Adeline Avenue, Michael Worthy, soldier stationed at the Letterman Hospital, slipped under the wheels. His right foot was cut off at the instep.

Worthy had been visiting at his home, 1905 Alcatraz avenue, and was endeavoring to catch a train returning to San Francisco. The car was in motion when he sought to board it. He missed his footing and the heavy wheels ran over the toes of his right foot.

Worthy was taken to Roosevelt Hospital, from where he was later removed to Letterman Hospital by army medical authorities.

NEWS OF RICHMOND

Industrial Development; Social Events; Happenings in Contra Costa Terminal City

TRIBUNE BUREAU, 209 Macdonald Ave. Richmond 253.

RICHMOND, Aug. 5.—Next Monday evening the necessary papers for the calling of the bond election for the improvement of the inner harbor, which was voted for last week, will be submitted to the city council. The City Council, Harry Hall, council member, last evening Hall reported that he is working on the papers and believes that they will be completed by the end of the week. The election has been set for September 23.

A new minimum wage scale for all city employees was set at $5 a day by the city council last night. This is an increase of $1 a day as the old wage scale was $4. The new salary rate is dated from August 2.

Announcement that improvements are to be made on the council chambers was made at the meeting. After several minutes of investigating the matter it was referred to the finance committee and the city clerk.

To date but one bid has been received for the work. This is for Bucker-Fuller Company of San Francisco. They offer to make the improvements for $1150.

Seven new fire alarm boxes valued at $1450 will soon be installed throughout the city.

A request that the plan for the lowering of the building permit fees be reconsidered was made by Building Commissioner Harry Wierda and was granted by the council. The man was turned over to the ordinance and building committee and a report will be made next Monday.

It is the belief of Inspector Wierda that the present rates are too high, and if reduced would encourage the construction of new buildings. According to his report the fees of this city for building permits are higher than any other city in the state of the same size as Richmond.

During the absence of Councilman Watson, who is at the home of his father in Missouri on account of the poor health of the latter, Councilman W. W. Scott will serve as a member of the street committee.

COUNCIL WILL MAKE BERKELEY WEEDLESS CITY

BERKELEY, Aug. 5.—Berkeley will be a "weedless" city. Rich man and poor man alike will pull weeds or pay the bills. The city fathers have so decreed it. They took the power which deals with the nuisance away from the police department this morning and gave it to Commissioner of Streets George Schmidt and his department to deal with.

Henceforth the council will act under the state law of 1915, which provides that after a proper posting of notices property owners must get rid of the pests. Should they grow careless or refuse a city officer will clean up all spite and span. But when the tax bills come in the property owner will discover many things among them being who paid the official weeder.

RICH AND LEE-A-VER

CURBSTONE THIEF SUSPECT NABBED

That the water system in this city is very poor and not too good in case of fire was the complaint made by Fire Chief Lamone. He claims that whenever a repair is necessary it causes almost the entire water supply of the city to be cut off.

J. E. McVittie was appointed to act as stenographer during the absence of J. Diederich, assistant city clerk, now on a vacation.

A two-weeks' leave of absence was granted to J. O. Ford, city assessor.

A new minimum wage scale for all city employees was set at $5 a day by the city council last night. This is an increase of $1 a day as the old wage scale was $4. The new salary rate is dated from August 2.

Announcement that improvements are to be made on the council chambers was made at the meeting held in Richmond yesterday under the direction of the Contra Costa

Association. Matters of importance of all departments of the association were discussed and officers for the coming year were elected.

John F. Galvin of Richmond was elected president; C. G. McDonalds of Antioch, vice-president; Edwin Eulsen of Pinole, secretary-treasurer; G. E. Mithes of Richmond, William Laudian of Crockett, W. A. H. Martin, Catherine Burke of Contra Costa, and A. P. Beetersworth of Pittsburgh were elected as the executive committee.

Found walking down the street in a wobbly condition, Pat Flynn of San Pablo was taken to the city jail and booked as a drunk, but a few hours later he was released by Police Judge Odell, and the charges dropped off the books. It was discovered that Flynn came to Richmond to have a few of his teeth extracted, and that he was given an extra large dose of nitrous oxide by the dentist, hence the wobbly condition.

Judge Odell investigated, and found Flynn was not a victim of John Barleycorn, but was convinced that Flynn was not a knockout drop to kill him.

During the absence of Councilman Watson, who is at the home of his father in Missouri on account of the poor health of the latter, Councilman W. W. Scott will serve as a member of the street committee.

SCRUBWOMAN IN HOTEL OWNER OF $10,000 ESTATE

(Special to The TRIBUNE)

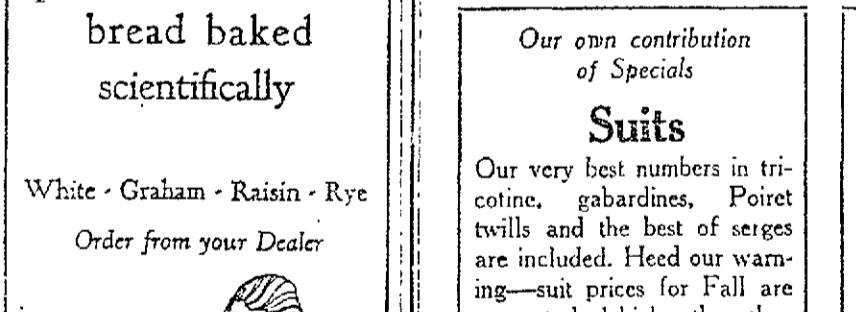

MARTINZ, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Jerome O'Grahaugh, a widow at the Chicago Hotel in Chico, thought she was penniless yesterday. Every day she worked and worked hard, for the whereabouts of her husband, Harry Wierda, and his wife, Anna, were unknown. She had been a property owner in Martinez for some time, but she did not know it until today.

When her late husband died, she supposed him penniless and went to work in the hotel to support herself and minor child. Recently while looking through her husband's letters, she found a reference to a sum of money in Martinez which she had not known about.

She asked Attorney Harry Davids of Chico to locate it for her. He communicated with H. Depp, an attorney of Richmond, who located the property. Mrs. O'Grahaugh's husband left her a $10,000 equity in a valuable property here.

GAS WELL STILL SPOUTS FLAME AT ELK HILLS

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Aug. 5.—Two charges of dynamite failed to extinguish the flaming gas well of the Standard Oil company in the Elk Hills, thirty miles west of this city. Tons of chemicals mixed with the steam from twenty boilers also have had no effect on the burning gas.

The men are resting, wearied from their day's labor, and are trying to check the flames. The well, which is 2100 feet deep, came in a week ago last Sunday and almost immediately caught fire when stones ejected from the well rubbed against the casing and caused the gas to ignite. The capacity of the well is estimated at 60,000,000 cubic feet daily.

HEAT RUINS STREETS.

MATTOON, Ill., Aug. 5.—A typhoon which raged through the seas of the Far East on August 1 and continued for many hours, smashed cables radiating from Shanghai and has interfered with communication with China, Japan and the Philippines, according to a notice sent out today by the Commercial Cable Company.

SEATTLE, Aug. 5.—Traced across the continent by department of justice agents, Ivan B. Fuson, alias Franklin, former lieutenant in the army air service in spruce production work, was brought to Seattle from Jacksonville, Fla., to face charges of bigamy, forgery, and violation of the Mann act. In an attempt to absolve himself, he made a statement to the United States attorney, attorney for the defense, and the court.

Fuson is said to have alienated his wife, Vera Houghton, formerly of Portland, Ore., last year, while he had a wife living in Cincinnati.

Fuson entered the army service at Fort Thomas, Ky., in 1917, and in July, 1918, had command of the 6th spruce squadron at Aberdeen, Wash. He was born in Rosalia, Kan.

Police officers of Oakland need no longer look for the wife while it is in Oregon, either. The tempting display of fine wines seized by the police while they were being delivered by Goldberg, Bowen & Company to an East Oakland purchaser no more will adorn the municipal cellar.

City Attorney H. L. Hagan today directed Chief J. F. Lynch that it would be proper to release the wine while it is in Oregon.

The U. S. attorney already had ruled that the wine might be destroyed and therefore the case pending before Judge Harry W. Fulcher

was dismissed. According to the Goldsberg, Bowen company, the wine

was sold before July 1, but was not

sent out for delivery until after that date. Arrangements were made with

Costable Hempstead today to turn over the wine to the company.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 5, 1919.

A CHANGE OF POLICY.

At last the government at Washington has repudiated Secretary of War Baker's policy of keeping surplus army supplies of food off the market. The surplus, comprised almost wholly of staple necessities, is to be sold. But this belated step was not taken until it was impressed
clearly upon President Wilson and his aides that their neglect and maladministration had brought
the country face to face with a serious crisis.

The commodities to be placed on sale include
canned and corned beef, cured meats, canned vegetables and fresh frozen meats and poultry. A committee of Congress investigating the War Department reported recently that on July 8 the supplies on hand over and above the needs of the army were as follows:

Corned Beef	$24,000,000
Bacon	23,000,000
Corn beef hash	10,000,000
Roast beef	20,500,000
Fresh frozen meats and poultry	20,000,000
Canned vegetables	23,000,000
Total	$120,000,000

During the eight months that elapsed between
the signing of the armistice and July 8, the War Department had sold only $12,000,000 worth of its enormous surplus of foodstuffs. This was the result of Mr. Baker's policy, promulgated in orders by the Quartermaster-General of the army,

to keep the surplus off the market so as not to disturb the war-time market quotations. In the meantime, testimony before the investigating committee showed millions of dollars' worth of bacon

and ham spoiled, to the great loss of the government and to the people who were in need of meat products.

Now the government announces with a
flourish that it is to make the "largest direct sale
to the American people ever attempted." But there is no mention of the fact that the products
have seriously deteriorated during the eight months the government was foolishly trying to perpetuate war-time conditions! Again the Washington administration has shown in a glaring
manner its utter incompetency in understanding
either the economic conditions of the country or
the sentiment of the people; or to comprehend
even the plain official proprieties.

A STEP NEARER PEACE

Included in the good news from Europe is that
which tells that Bela Kun, head of the Bolshevik regime in Hungary, has fled from Budapest and been arrested and interned in Vienna. This is a timely riddance in the affairs of the governments
and peoples of central Europe. Bela Kun was a plunderer and destroyer of the ilk of Lenin and Trotsky. He was a thief, murderer, assassin and arsonist. He spent much money, stolen from the Hungarians he had outraged, in spreading Bolshevism to neighboring countries.

But in committing his misdeeds Bela Kun was not so much an internationalist of the Lenin
type as he was a chauvinistic Magyar with mon-archistic tendencies. His acts in violating the terms of the armistice which Hungary concluded
with the Allies was to save the Magyars of Buda
past the "crown" lands which have been allotted
to the people that live on them in Slovakia, Transylvania and Croatia. He was just as earnest
a defender of the monarchic order of which Hungary was once a part as his imperialistic predecessor, Stephen Tiza.

The Allies a few weeks ago sent the people of Hungary word that peace for them was possible
as soon as they set up a government "which represents the people and carries out in letter and spirit the engagements into which it has entered with the associated governments." If this was done, the note said, the blockade will be lifted,

and "as soon as in the opinion of the Allied commander-in-chief the terms of the armistice have been satisfactorily complied with, all foreign occupation of Hungarian territory, as defined by the peace conference, will cease."

This meant that the Bolshevik had to go. Now that he has been displaced it is to be presumed that the new Hungarian government will work to achieve those conditions essential to peace. If they succeed the danger to Romania, Serbia and Czecho-Slovakia will be greatly lessened. Bela Kun's own blockade against traffic on the Danube
will no doubt now be raised, and in time the Magyars, who have been allowed sufficient territory
for all their legitimate native economic and nationalistic purposes, will cease to scheme to regain control over the lands of former subject
peoples that have been given their independence.

It requires time and patience to see the several Balkan nationalities, especially those which were
to the last loyal to Hapsburg and Hohenzollern,
accept and adjust themselves to the new conditions
defined in the peace treaty. But plainly progress is being achieved and the extrusion of Bela Kun is a long step toward the desired goal.

HARDEN'S AVAILABILITY.

Mr. Frederick William Wile, a distinguished
journalist and foreign newspaper correspondent,
writes to the New York Times to tell some very interesting things about Maximilian Harden, who has been mentioned as the next German ambassador to the United States. Mr. Wile believes it incredible that the German government is seriously contemplating the despatch to this country
of Herr Harden as the republic's first diplomatic representative.

Equally preposterous to him is the thought that the United States should ever consent to receive him in that capacity. And if the unbelievable
does come to pass, and Harden's name is submitted to the State Department for acceptance,
it would be desirable that Secretary Lansing pay
carefully into the record of Prussia's master
muckraker. This further concerning Herr Harden
from Mr. Wile:

"His pen is always dipped in intrigue and invective. He is an incorrigible destructivist,
ascetic alike in appearance and mental attitude.
Tittle-tattle is his stock in trade and his professional staff of life. He does not speak one word of English. Harden, once an itinerant Polish
actor, originally named Max Withkowsky, is runningly addicted to the antics and make-believe of the footlights.

"But above all it deserves to be remembered that early in the war, when the Germans were staggering humanity with their countless outbursts of kultur, Maximilian Harden publicly and unblushingly avowed that the Germans willed
this war. He said that in no spirit of detachment, his bosom friend, Dr. Walter Rathenau,
the originator of Germany's war industry, whom Harden subsequently apotheosized in the Zukunft,
fondly hoped to insure the Germans certain and speedy victory. In that hope Maximilian Harden undoubtedly shared. In all the diabolical deeds
of the German war industrialists he heartily gloried. Conversion from earlier beliefs came only when it was demonstrated that German war
industry had been a bad investment."

All of the above is true as to Maximilian Harden.
A condemnation of like substance may justly be uttered of any man of German official or public life who may be elected to visit foreign countries. Even Lichnowsky and Muhlen, who have tried to wash their hands of Germany's infamies, helped prepare the machine that turned out to be a Frankenstein. They too liked to think they were supernmen and to dream of a time when
they would govern the world.

The foreign office of this and other countries
will hardly be able to determine whether a German ambassador, by the tests of his war activities and sympathies, is fit to associate with decent people. They will have to try merely to have the least objectionable of the Huns sent to deal with them. Under this mild test Herr Harden
would be preferable to Count von Bernstorff.

RECORDS IN TRADE.

All previous records in the trade history of the United States were broken during the fiscal year
ended June 30, 1919, according to official com-pilations by the federal Department of Commerce.

The total exports are estimated at $7,225,000,000 and the total imports at $3,096,000,000. This is a total of foreign trade values of $10,321,000,000,
against the largest previous figure—for 1918—of $8,866,000,000.

The balance of trade in favor of the United States for the year is $4,129,000,000. This trade
balance is substantially the same as the credits
advanced to our European allies during the period in which it was accumulated. Thus the country has performed the astonishing "stunt" of furnishing Europe with more than four billion
dollars' worth of manufactured and food products
and loaning Europe the money with which to pay for them.

In the same twelve-month period the people
have subscribed to over $12,000,000,000 of liberty
bonds and paid $6,000,000,000 in taxes. Income tax returns show that while doing these things
the people of the United States earned over $13, 000,000,000 in income over and above the amount
exempted from taxation. Rather impressive expression of the ability of the American people in finance, industry and commerce!

The warning of the Paris Midi that Japan is inviting and provoking the hostility of the world
is broad-based upon the record of Japan's conduct. If the sole remaining autocracy does not desire the hostility of the world she will change
her methods.

NOTES and COMMENT

It is Chairman Lynch's opinion that the President will not stand for a third term. As Lynch is chairman of the executive committee of the national Democratic committee his opinion ought to be of some value. At least it is the first we have had in a matter that has been much speculated upon.

* * *

The war upset the world, indeed. It has made life different everywhere. Christian peoples have so many new conditions of their own to meet that they have not paid much attention to the troubles of others—the harem women of Turkey, for instance. The war seems to have knocked the harem down and out. The inmates, so far from enjoying a life of rigid seclusion, are out skirmishing for something to eat. There seems to be no walk of life or any circle that is not affected.

* * *

A despatch says that England is considering the cession of the British West Indies as part payment for the debt that that country owes this. Also that the proposition is being seriously considered in this country. At first it may be felt that Uncle Sam has all the island junk that he needs, but it is to be remembered that very recently he paid twenty-five millions for the Danish West Indies. Perhaps he wants to add to his collection.

* * *

The President is said to favor former Secretary McAdoo as the Democratic candidate for the presidency, thus getting the subject back to where it was two years ago. So little has been said in the interim that the impression had obtained that the idea of keeping it in the family had grown weak, but it is suggested now that it was only dormant.

* * *

Those who have had an idea that Lincoln Steffens did not figure in the big diplomatic now learn that an offer of peace to the Russian soviet, framed by President Wilson, Lloyd George and Colonel House, was carried by him to Lenin and Trotsky. That it was turned down is evident from the fact that nothing happened of a peaceful nature.

* * *

That Prince Lichnowsky, who comes along with the news that the former kaiser was a perfect bear for peace, is not only belated but has been forestalled. It is old stuff and doesn't fool anybody at all.

* * *

The suggestion that airplanes be used to scare ducks off rice fields may be original, but it is to be questioned whether it will work. The duck isn't always scared after it finds that it is not going to be hurt. And it is not understood that the airplane is to slaughter.

* * *

It is about the only thing that can be done by legislative bodies, but there is a lamentable lack of faith in investigating committees as a cure for high food prices. There is not too much faith in the legislative investigating committee for anything, as to that.

* * *

Possibly the strenuous opposition of London movie theater proprietors to an invasion by Americans is an illustration of the international friendliness that prevails. There are signs that none of the countries are emulated of American efficiency and energy. Perhaps there was too great a difference between the two.

Across the hills of nightime I hear the children call.
I hear their pink feet splashing
Below the waterfall.

And I find my arms a-reaching
To clasp and love them all.

All of the little children
Forever dear to me.

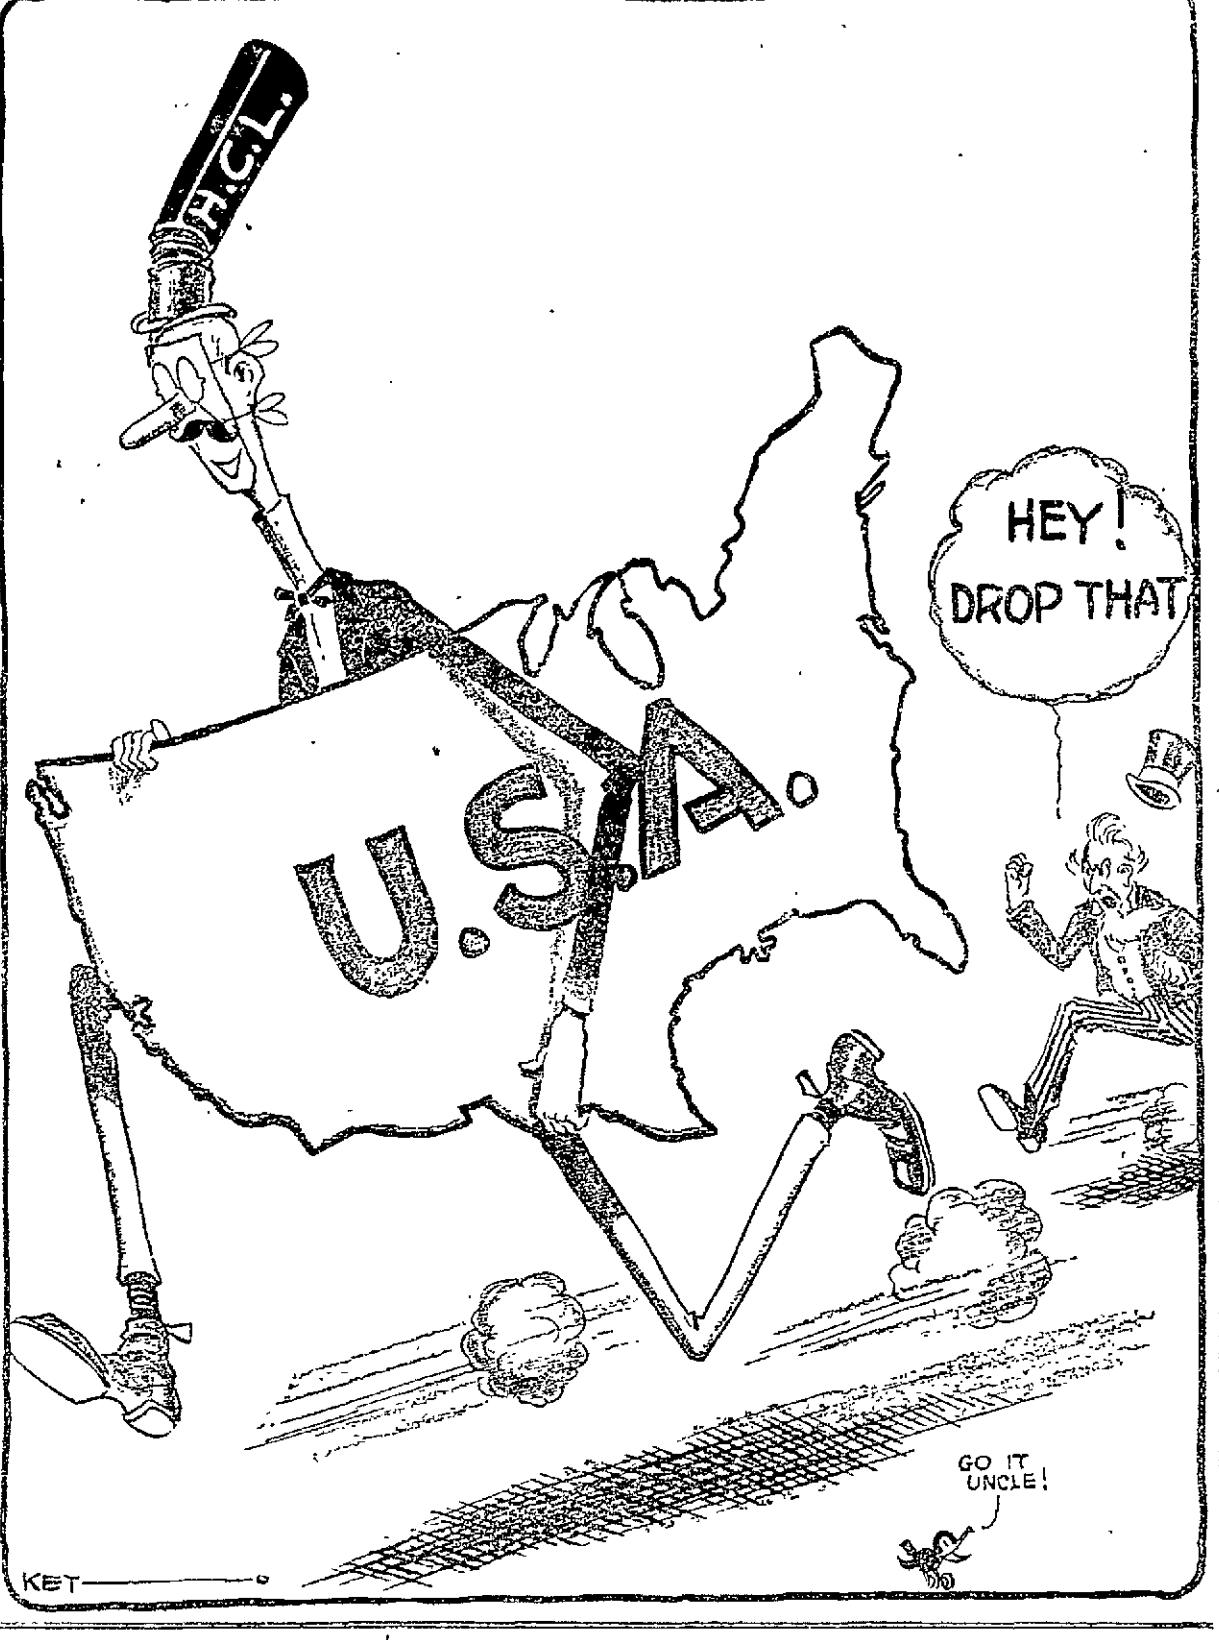

The little children playing
Beside the summer sea.
The children on the uplands
With tousled locks blown free.

Across the hills of nightime
When I am all alone.

I see them standing, waving,
With tousled locks wind blown,
All of the little children
Whom I have ever known.

—Judd Mortimer Lewis, in the Houston Post.

THE APATHY OF VOTERS.

California but in Oregon and other

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 5.—Texas schools will open next month with a shortage of teachers estimated at 4,000. The situation is the most serious in history of the state's school system, according to a statement by the State Teachers Association, made public today. Low wages is given as the cause for lack of applicants for schools.

Oakland's scheme to buy surplus food supplies from the government for re-sale to the public received a hard blow today when City Attorney H. L. Hagan ruled that the city can not engage in the merchandise business.

It had been proposed that the city spend as much as $20,000 for army bacon and canned goods, to be handled by local merchants. A bill of general trade is not a public service, without regard to how essential the business might be to the welfare of the inhabitants, and that a municipality could not therefore engage in such business."

California orchardists will face heavy losses to the railroad employees strike, according to Lloyd W. Stetson, local wholesale commission merchant, who has just returned from a ten days' automobile trip through the fruit belts of Sacramento, Plumas and Sierra counties.

According to Stetson, fruits are ripening fast in that part of the state and must be harvested at once if the crop is to be saved. SCHOOL FOR BLIND URGED AT BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Aug. 5.—Women's clubs in all parts of the state will be called upon to lend aid in circulating petitions seeking to place before the voters of California an initiative measure which will provide the sum of $1,400,000 for a new blind school in Berkeley.

Dr. Newell Perry, instructor in mathematics at the California School for the Deaf and the Blind in this city, leader of the movement for a separate institution for the blind, has appealed to all friends of the blind to aid in the work of obtaining signatures.

"We have no money to spend in obtaining the 100,000 signatures which we will need to place this issue before the voters of the state," says Dr. Perry. "All we can do is to rely on our good friends to help. It is absolutely essential to the welfare of both the deaf and the blind that two separate schools be maintained and the establishment of a new blind institution is the most feasible."

ENDORSED BY DIRECTORS.

The petition which is being circulated has the endorsement of the board of directors of the present state school of which Rev. William N. Purry is president. Differences which have arisen between various factions working for reforms in the management of the school are declared by Dr. Purry to have been forgotten and a union of various blind agencies and other workers in the present campaign is announced.

That an entirely separate management would be provided for the proposed new blind school and that the institution be located "convenient" to the University of California, are two of the provisions of the petition as being circulated. Differences over a proposed new site for a blind school hampered legislation proposed at the last session of the state lawmakers and two bills clashing with each other, after being introduced, were IDENTIFIED DEBATE FOLLOWED.

A heated struggle arose over a plan of the board of directors of the state school to move the blind to a location at Sacramento and West streets, where an option on the so-called Schmidt property was obtained. To fight the closing of the old school, the blind will divide the two schools on the present site was introduced and sponsored by the Berkeley Federation of Mothers.

Dr. Perry has asked all persons interested in the initiative measure to secure petitions for circulation at his home, 2310 Dorby street. The campaign as now being conducted is being conducted by the Employment Aid Society for the Blind with an executive committee composed of Dr. Perry as chairman and Miss Martha Craig and Miss Sybil Marston, all of Berkeley.

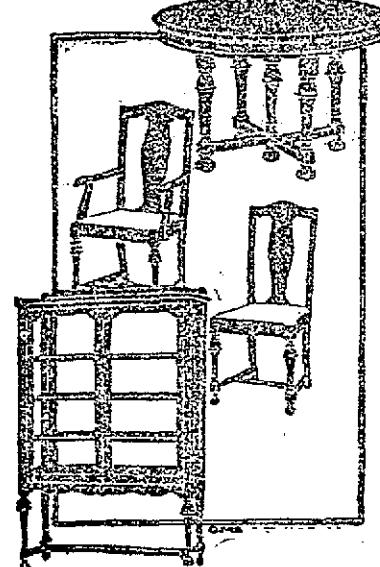

Others lending aid are Miss Katherine Morrison, Los Angeles; Mrs. Robert Graham, Berkeley; Miss Kate Noyes, San Francisco; Raymond Henderson, blind attorney of Bakersfield; and John F. Dondero, president California Alumni Association for the blind.

ARMED ABDULLAH.

(Continued from yesterday.) Steadily, for more than two hours, they climbed across ledges of crumpled sandstone and basalt. Then they descended, and suddenly, tucked away in a curious, bay-shaped depression between steep red ridges, the ruins came into sight.

Night was already beginning to fall, and Baltazzi, poised on the crest of the hill, looked down at the scene at his feet.

There was something fanatic, something challenging in the gaze of his steady black eyes, and his gestures, lean, angular, extravagant, seemed prophetic.

"Tomorrow!" he said, as if addressing the ruins. "Tomorrow I shall gut you as I would a fish. I shall rip you open with spade and shovel, and I shall make you discharge your treasures, your inmost, hidden, ancient secrets! For me! For my race!"

Then, hearing the other's amused laugh, he turned, and announced gravely:

"Supper! We'll crack our last bottle of beer. We shall celebrate the occasion!"

He interrupted himself and, to the other's surprised question, pointed at a great boulder that jutted out not far away, and from behind which a thin plume of blue-black smoke was rising in a spiral.

"Somebody here before us," he said. "Let's investigate." And he was off at a run around the shoulder of rock, and, a few seconds later came his exultant, laughter-choked call:

"Hurry up, Evans! A hut, a comfortable couch, a fire, game freshly-killed, and—a cook! All ready and waiting for us!"

Utterly astonished, Farragut Evans followed and, on the other side of the rock, saw a faint light, but subsequently made of timeworn and rotted with leaves, a blazing cooking fire in front of it; a stuck of antelope appetizingly roasting on a spit, a billy not filled with steaming coffee, and, collared by the Levantine's lean, rough fingers, a shaking, trembling, decidedly embarrassed Yoruba. Evans recognized him at once by the red blanket wrapped about him, the coat draped over the tattered parasol also by the way in which he had filed his teeth to a fine point, and had weighted down his fleshly lower lip with about three pounds of crude copper disc. A broad crimson fetish mark tattooed across his flat nose gave him the look of a particularly vindictive demon.

It was Leontine, the lascivious of that porters who, ten days earlier, during the night had stampeded into the bush.

Baltazzi slapped the negro's face with his open palm.

"Run away the wrong direction, my lad," he said triumphantly. "I'll stambuk you in the morning within an inch of your life. Tonight you will cook for us, and mind that you cook well!"

It was while the Yoruba, still violently trembling, was busying himself with preparations for the meal, that the American whispered words of warning to the Levantine.

"Be careful what you do to this man, and look out for what he may do to you," he said. "I believe he was planted here on purpose."

"I'm here," said Baltazzi, laughing with a laugh. "I was planted here to Providence, the conquering white man's Providence! Planted here to prepare supper for us and gather sweet-smelling herbs for our beds tonight! However, as soon as supper is over I shall tie the brute hand and foot, and I'll gag him too. We won't run any more risks than we have to."

The meal finished and topped by a cup of steaming coffee, Baltazzi trussed the Yoruba up like a sheep about to be butchered, gagged him with a crude but effective wooden gag, and rolled him into the inside of the hut, while he and Farragut Evans stretched their tired limbs out near the entrance. And they were very tired.

Six came to them immediately, heavily, like a laden weight.

Before closing his eyes, Farragut Evans had taken the precautions for the protection of the Levantine, which had become a habit with him. He tied the double rope around his and the other's waist and slipped his right hand into Baltazzi's belt, gripping it firmly. He saw that the two prisoners were simply too fatigued, even ridiculous, futile. But there was nothing else that he could do. He was fighting in the dark against an unknown, shadowy enemy, and whatever might happen to Mario Baltazzi during the night, at least the American would be instantly wide awake and ready to do his share by the edge of snuff."

Evans, since during the night he awoke, had to feel for the rope and his companion's hand. Each time, too, he noticed that his drowsiness, in spite of the coffee that he had drunk before turning in, was overwhelming and that his head, chiefly the base of the skull and the temples, felt as if it had taken an overdose of some opiate that he had吞嚥ed his senses and creating a semi-lassitude in his lower limbs. At the time, he dismissed the sensation, diagnosing it as a slight fit of West Coast fever and deciding to take a stiff dose of quinine in the morning.

Again he was aroused from sleep, to hear a jackal on the hilltop calling out his deep, tearing yell—only to see, in a man ringing through his nose, and then the plaintive, disgruntled hooting of a owl among the trees, not very far away.

Here was the impression he received:

"A jackal singing merrily through its nose, an owl hooting its night litany, and a man ringing through his nose, and then the plaintive, disgruntled hooting of an owl among the trees, not very far away."

It was the impression he received:

"A jackal singing merrily through its nose, an owl hooting its night litany, and a man ringing through his nose, and then the plaintive, disgruntled hooting of an owl among the trees, not very far away."

His semi-conscious thoughts whirled and wavered, trying to focus into a message, a warning. Bravely, they battled against the overwhelming dream thoughts that rose in the back cells of his brain and surged like a flood.

A message? Warning?

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

by ADELE GARRISON

Lillian tore open the cablegram, with which she accepts some new and difficult tasks.

"Now for Allen Drake," she said. "We must get to him immediately."

Her next question terrified me.

"You know him, don't you Madge?"

WHAT LILLIAN PLANNED.

Did she expect me to go in search of Allen Drake, the man with whom I had so strange an interview upon the occasion when Dicky had brought him to the old Brennan house in Marvin?

"Ye-es, slightly," I faltered. "I never saw him except on two occasions. You remember. I told you of that."

"I remember," Lillian returned succinctly, "that you weren't particularly keen for him, and I am mighty sorry to have to send you in search of him. But it would never do for Allen Drake and me to be seen talking together. We're both too well known, while no one suspects that you are also in the secret service. He doesn't know, Katherine, or I would send her, so there's nothing for it but yourself!"

She spoke with a determination which I knew it was useless to combat, even if I had wished to shirk my duty.

"What am I to do?" I asked dully.

"Nothing for the next few hours," she said briskly. "Of course, you have the paper with you."

"Right here," I indicated the trick wrist watch, which I had taken from my trunk just before starting from home, and to which I had transferred the picture paper from the pencil case hidden in my trousered vase.

"'Gosh!" Lillian returned. "And isn't it lucky Dicky is prepared to have you stay with me all the week to help me out with that historical one?" Well, if you look at it in the right way, we are telling no falsehood. You may be helping me make history, my dear."

The expression of her eyes as she stooped to kiss me robbed the words of all levity. I had a sudden glimpse of the consecration, the vision with which Lillian approached her work, and it shamed my tremors, my weakness and my indecision to determine to bear myself more worthily.

AUNT ELSIE'S KIDDIE KORNERS

That puzzle contest box popped open a few days ago and the prizes are announced in the August 3 Sunday paper. But there are dozens and dozens of kiddies who send in wonderful puzzles—and whose puzzles I am going to print from time to time in our corner. They did not win the BIGGEST prizes—but whoever has his or her puzzles printed will win a little prize of a movie ticket. So that will mean a SOUPON will be giggling most all the time. Today I'm going to use the puzzles sent in by Peggy Ray and Mary Sherman and each one will get a GIGGLE PILL in the form of a movie ticket. (THAT'S an easy kind of a pill to take, isn't it?) Ifere's Peggy's letter:

PEGGY RAY

Dear Aunt Elsie—
Like all the other kiddies I just LOVE our page, so Mary and I are sending in puzzles. I almost hate to send them because they get so much mail. I have all over this country with the exception of a few eastern states. Travel must do some good because I'll begin High School next fall and I'm just twice.

Your loving—

Peggy Ray,
1900 Oakland Ave., Piedmont, Cal.
I should think Peggy would go "choo-choo" when she snores. Here's a Mary-Peggy puzzle. You'll have to jump a train to catch it!

Some Keys—Puzzle No. 1

Give me a key that hangs by its tail.
Give me a key that is good to eat.
Give me a key that races.

Give me a key that is a prohibited drink. (I've hidden the answers somewhere else.)

BEVERLY MCGARVIE

Once a good king and queen had a beautiful daughter named Doris, whom many royal suitors wished to wed. But she would not marry any of them. "No," she said, "I will only marry the Prince of my Dreams who will come for me some day as he has promised in my dreams!" So she waited and waited. And sure enough—one day the Prince DID come in a golden coach and she knew him at once and they were married with great rejoicing.

Your loving—

Beverly McGarvie, 19 yrs.,
2423 Prince St., Berkeley.

DOROTHY JARSTER

Dorothy made up a jolly wee song for the Teeny Weeny Bears to play. I have put it into our picture with the picture puzzle that Peggy sent. Isn't it a giggly one? Dorothy is only 8 years and I think she's WONDERFUL to have made up a song. Her address is—Dorothy Jarster, 3425 West View Drive, Oakland.

LILLIAN ANDERSON

Dear Aunt Elsie—

Daddy built a little play house for my sister and me. It is painted green with white trimmings and a red roof. It has geraniums growing around it and on top of the roof stands an American soldier holding an American flag.

Hugs and kisses—

Lillian Anderson, 2 yrs., 3532 Hayes St., Oakland.

EMILY RIDWELL

Once a wicked old witch caught a little fairy, who complained for help, but no one came. The old witch would only feed her dry bread and water but the fairy changed them to cake, pie, ice cream and custard. Soon

Dear Aunt Elsie—

I love our page. I have a tortoise shell car, and three kittens. One is light brown, the other is like the mother and the other is grey. Alameda Tennis Players Lose To Buena Vista

Isle City Clubmen Are Short
Enders After Great
Contests

Eleven members of the Buena Vista Tennis Club of San Francisco crossed the bay to Washington park, Alameda and won the majority of their tennis matches with members of the Island City Tennis Club.

During the morning the play was good, but the weather was not. Many matches were won by a single game and the result was in doubt until the final point was played for instance in the match between L. C. and Isle City, the latter won the second set 9 to 7 and led in the third set 5 to 1 when by expertly placed drives, La Croix won the next five games and the match. The men's and women's sets of the Lashman-Graffin match wherein twenty eight games were played in two sets each of which were tie at six all and diners won by Lashman. The matches were equally interesting and spectacular shows on part of contestants kept the enthusiastic center of spectators ever on their toes.

At noon the scores were 10 to 6 when the players adjourned for an hour to enjoy the luncheon of sandwiches, cake, coffee, caramboules and ice cream served on two long tables near the center of the local boys' and girls' club and their wives and lady friends.

After luncheon the home teams were not so fortunate and although competition was keen, the results were not as good as the five doubles matches. In one thirty four, in another forty games were played before the visitors won.

A complete record of the tournament follows: SINGLES. J. J. Rothchild, B. V., defeated J. H. Coombes, 6-3, 6-2.

Charles La Croix, B. V., defeated Tevis Martin, B. V., 6-3, 5-9, 6-2.

Harold Lishman, I. C., defeated Milt. Clinton Smith, B. V., 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Frank Rasmussen, B. V., defeated E. Overberg, I. C., 6-3, 6-4.

Bob Devereaux, B. V., defeated E. G. Conk, I. C., 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

Frank Fergus, B. V., defeated Bruce Hanna, B. V., 6-3, 6-2.

H. Coombes, B. V., defeated Victor Indig, I. C., 6-1, 6-3.

Charles La Croix, B. V., defeated Koen and Overberg, I. C., 7-5, 5-7, 6-4.

Hanna and Devereaux, B. V., defeated Cook and Fergus, I. C., 3-6, 6-4.

McFetrich, B. V., 6-3, 6-0.

Devereaux and Fergus, I. C., 6-3, 6-0.

Rothchild and Martin, B. V., defeated Jordan and Persicke, I. C., 6-4, 6-3.

La Croix and Lishman, I. C., defeated Coombs and Smith, B. V., 6-3, 6-2.

Devereaux and Fergus, I. C., defeated Koen and Overberg, I. C., 7-5, 7-6.

Hanna and Devereaux, B. V., defeated Cook and Fergus, I. C., 3-6.

Devereaux and Fergus, I. C., 6-3, 6-7.

Thus bringing to a close one of the best tournaments played in Alameda.

Alameda Grays Win
In 13th Inning

The Alameda Grays defeated the 57th Coast Artillery boys at the Presidio Sunday after a hard-fought thirteen inning game by a score of 4 to 2. The soldiers were leading 2 to 1 going into the ninth, but a double by Green and a double by "Dodge" Kuhn knotted the count.

From then on neither team was daring to risk the thirteenth. In the frame two singles, a sacrifice and a hit by Spike Wittmeyer put the game on ice. The soldiers tried hard to find their way out, but "Eagle" Kuhn tightened up and retired the next three men in order.

Bailey pitched well for the losers. Total score: 4-2. Totals: 2-0.

VALLEJO, Aug. 5.—Manager Ned O'Hara's aggregation of shipbuilding-ball players made their usual week-end clean-up Saturday and Sunday, playing two ball games. Saturday, the highly touted Wright-Ditsons of San Francisco were beaten 22 to 1, while Sunday's game against the St. Dominics was a 6 to 1 win for the shipbuilders.

The St. Dominics' game was a miserable exhibition, while Sunday's contest was good.

The St. Dominics invaded this city with a team of 12, but the Wright-Ditsons made the shipbuilders fight all the time to win. Heine Wagner occupied the pitching all night, the locals cheering him along, though the locals were not delivery boys, and the game was a nice game. The score:

INSANITY IS BLAMED FOR
U.C. SHOOTING

Former College Instructor Broads Over Alleged Wrongs Done Him by Professors Whom He Shot in Campus

With a prison sentence awaiting him unless he is adjudged insane or irresponsible, Roger Sprague, college instructor, sits at the receiving hospital in this city under the observation of alienists, while he broads over the alleged wrongs which preceded his shooting yesterday afternoon of Professor Edmund O'Neill, head of the University of California chemistry department, and Professor J. H. Hildebrand, his assistant. The near-tragedy occurred in Gilman Hall, the university's chemistry building, where the maddened instructor shot twice to kill. Afterward he ran to California Hall on the campus and shot at Mrs. May L. Cheney, appointment secretary, who grappled with him and managed to hold his arm aloft just as he pulled the trigger.

Dependence over his inability to obtain a position added to the fact that he was nearly at the end of his resources brought the idea of shooting his fancied oppressors into Sprague's mind. He had been employed as an assistant in the chemistry department of the university since 1911, but on June 1 he received no official notice that the position was closed to him. That was the first blow. When he attempted to get positions elsewhere—at the University of Colorado and in Los Angeles at the Normal School—Sprague claims that O'Neill would not recommend him.

VICTIMS ABLE TO WALK HOME.

It is thought that the double misfortune, added to his low financial status, brought the idea of revenge and killing into Sprague's mind. Added to his list of those upon whom his vengeance was to be wreaked were Mrs. Cheney and Morse Cartwright, secretary of the university.

Today Professor O'Neill is resting easily though suffering from a painful flesh wound over the right eye. Professor Hildebrand was shot through the neck, at the base of the skull. Both professors were able to walk home after having their wounds dressed at the university infirmary.

According to police reports, Sprague entered the administrative offices of the chemistry department and demanded $5000 from Professor O'Neill with death as an alternative. He accused the department head of hounding his efforts to obtain positions. It is said that O'Neill argued with the half-crazed man for twenty minutes, when a knock at the door interrupted the rage. O'Neill, interrupted, ran to the door and hurriedly stepped outside to safety. But his wit did not save him entirely, for Sprague, realizing the trick, sprang to his feet, drew a revolver from his hip pocket and shot through the fast-closing door. He hit Professor O'Neill, who fell.

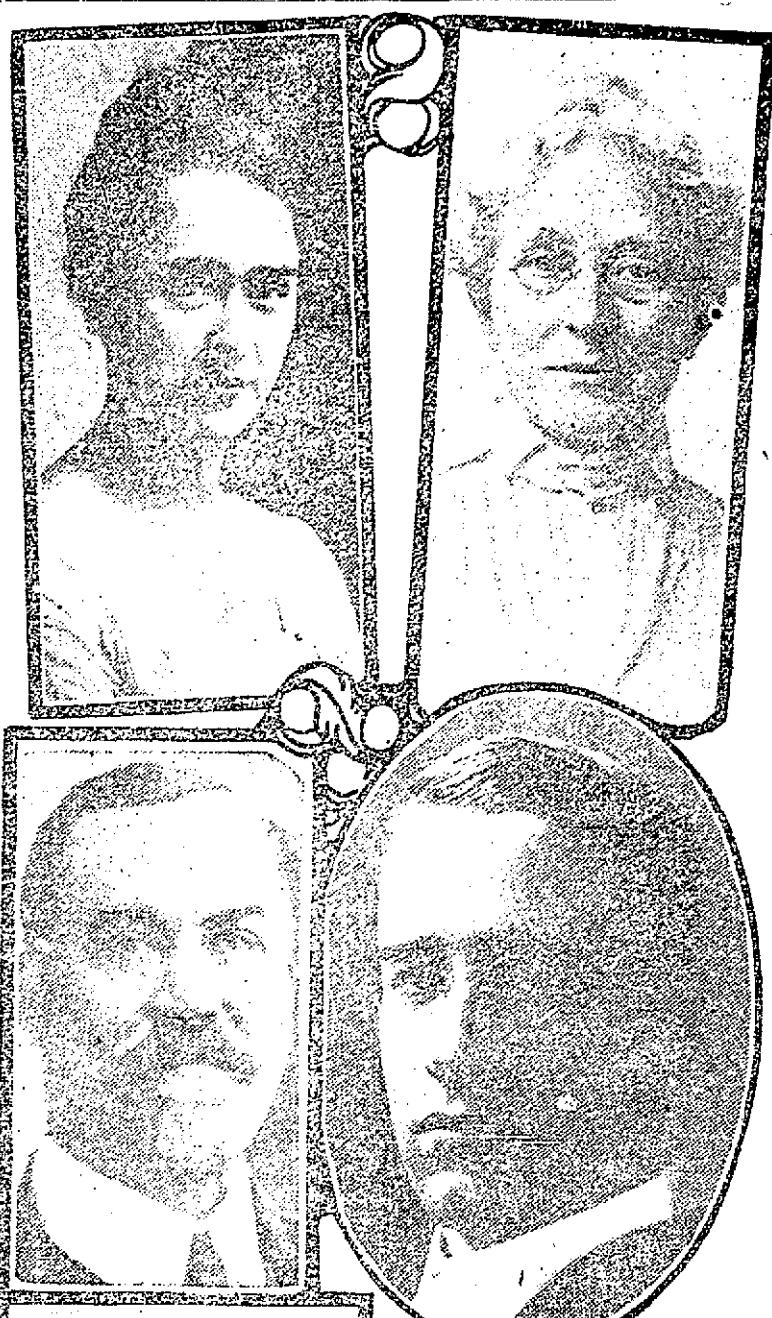

RELOADS REVOLVER.
Professor Hildebrand, who heard O'Neill's shout for aid, ran into the hallway only to be shot down. It was then that Sprague ran from the building, going to Bacon Hall. There he reloaded his revolver. He had been observed leaving the chemistry building by Adolph L. Freudenthal, 2247 Bancroft Way, Berkeley, and Wallace R. Brode, Walla Walla, Wash., both students at the reserve officers training corps camp. The students noticed his wild eyes and agitated manner, and followed him out of curiosity.

The police followed him to the Bacon Hall and from that place to California Hall. Here they entered the building behind the crazed instructor, just in time to prevent him from killing Mrs. Cheney in her own office. It was only the appointment secretary's coolness, presence of mind and bravery which saved her life. She grappled with Sprague after a moment of indecision and managed to hold him in the air the hand which held the gun. As it was the bullet plowed through her hair, hitting a comb.

DISARMED BY VISITOR.
J. B. Weed, district superintendent of the Tulare schools, who was waiting in the outside office, hurried in and managed to disarm the maddened instructor before he could overcome Mrs. Cheney's resistance. The two officers rushed into the room and seized Sprague to subdue the man. Berkeley and campus police arrived soon after.

Suicide Leaves Her Money for Red Cross

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—"Please use the $1000 in my safe for the Red Cross," read a note found inside Mrs. Nelson early today, several hours after she died by drinking poison. Nothing is known of the woman who, Saturday, rented a room where she died.

SPRAGUE IS LONG UNDER SUSPICION I HAD SAVED BULLET FOR ME: SPRAGUE

BERKELEY, Aug. 5.—Roger Sprague will face a charge of insanity. This was the declaration today of Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley. An insanity commitment will probably be sworn out today by the Berkeley police seeking to send Sprague to a state institution.

That Sprague is of an undoubted psychopathic type and that he is of a murderous type of insane person was the declaration today of Chief Vollmer, substantiated by a diagnosis made by Dr. Jan Don Ball, psychological expert of Berkeley.

"To prosecute such a man for attempt to murder would be foolish," declares Chief Vollmer. "That he is of an insane type and has been for some time university people have long recognized as well as other residents of Berkeley. His behavior has attracted attention for some time but it was realized that there was no place in which he could be confined."

"Had a psychopathic hospital been established, his type of case would have easily been recognized. Within a short time his murderous instinct would have been detected and the danger of allowing such a man to be at large would have been readily recognized. That such an occurrence as yesterday's did not end in a triple murder is nothing short of a miracle."

Sprague offered no resistance to being removed to the receiving hospital. He acquiesced readily with the officers' plans.

Before being removed to Oakland he was questioned by Dr. Ball, who adjudged him as an undoubted paranoiac.

NEW PSYCHOPATHIC HOSPITAL

Dr. Ball's preliminary diagnosis of the case of Sprague is as follows:

"This type of case illustrates the need for a psychopathic hospital, more particularly for its educational effect."

"It is fortunate for this man and society that the arresting officers were sufficiently trained to recognize the type of individual they were dealing with and that they are making an effort to have him placed in a hospital where he may be permanently confined and humanely treated and society will not again be concerned over him."

"Without the knowledge possessed by these officers it is likely this man would be prosecuted as a criminal and in a few short years society

now. Nothing can make me alone. I would have ended all this misery for myself."

Biting his fingernails, beating his head with his hands and with glassy eyes which stared into space, Roger Sprague, chairman of the psychology and graduate students of the University of California, laymmed the floor last night at the Berkeley police station that he was not allowed to kill himself following his attack on Professors Edmund O'Neill and J. H. Hildebrand and Mrs. May L. Cheney, prominent in University of California circles.

"I had saved a bullet for myself and I was going to end it all," declared Sprague. "It's all too late now. There is no time for regret."

"Here, this is all the money I have in the world," he said as he drew $140 from his pocket. "That is all, there were no prospects for more. I had no job and no hope of getting one. The university had taken away from me the $500 per year which I received as assistant in the chemistry department. With that position I had to do other things to make a decent living. And even that was taken from me. Things preyed on my mind so much that I was driven to this action."

"Yesterday I went to Professor O'Neill in an effort to see what he was going to do for me in the way of getting employment. He bluffed me as usual. Then he tried to edge away. That maddened me and I pulled my gun. I had no intention of shooting Professor Hildebrand."

The second and third bullets were meant for Professor O'Neill but Professor Hildebrand got it in the way.

"After the shooting I went to Bacon Hall, where I stopped to reload my gun and then went to Mrs. Cheney's office. I knew that there was a position on file in Mrs. Cheney's office which I could fill but she refused to help me in securing them. I wanted to finish the entire job while I was about it and so I sought them all. Then I planned to end things for myself."

"This man had definite fixed ideas of persecution by others. These ideas of persecution extend back many years and he has absolute faith in them and supports them by what is apparently logical reasoning."
